

Dear Colleagues:

On behalf of the organizing committee, we are pleased to announce the call for papers for the Third Annual Meeting of the Singapore-based Public Policy Network. Based on the model of similar successful public policy networks around the world, the Singapore PPN provides a venue for faculty at Singapore's post-secondary institutions interested in topics of public policy or comparative politics to present their work and engage in discussions with colleagues from around the region.

The 2019 workshop will be held on February 1, 2019 at the School of Social Sciences (SOSS) at Singapore Management University (SMU).

Although based in Singapore, the workshop is open to papers on all topics within the policy sciences and also more broadly to comparative politics and is not restricted to only those directly related to Singapore. Proposals for papers may deal with any issue of interest to scholars looking at local, national and international events in the region and elsewhere, or with theoretical, conceptual or methodological subjects related generally to policy studies.

Abstracts of up to 300 words, with paper title and author's affiliation and contact details should be submitted via email to:

singaporepublicpolicynet@gmail.com

Please note that submissions close on Nov 15, 2018.

Participants to the workshop are responsible for their travel to the event venue. More information on the PPN is available on its website at:

<http://www.publicpolicynet.com>

We hope you will join us for a stimulating set of presentations in February, 2019.

Ishani Mukherjee, SMU
Araz Taeiagh, NUS
Michael Howlett, SFU
Meng-Hsuan Chou, NTU
PPN-Singapore Organizing Committee

Key dates

September 15, 2018 Call for papers opens
November 15, 2018 Call for papers closes
December 15, 2018 Announcement of accepted papers
January 15, 2019: Registration opens
February 1, 2019: PPPN-Singapore 2019